NOTE: Quest Church is a new church plant in the northwest suburbs of Chicago launching in late October 2013. We are looking for someone who can plan, organize, and execute a music/arts ministry that will appeal to an affluent, post-Christian, post-modern, post-Catholic environment. Interest in youth and/or children's ministry is a definite plus (as is a desire to preach occasionally). We will meet in an awesome, state-of-the-art, performing arts center, right in the heart of downtown. You must be committed to reaching those who are far from God and those who feel rejected or marginalized by the church. Quest already emphasizes mission, outreach, and relationship; we are looking for someone who can complement and enhance that emphasis. We are seeking a worship/arts person, but in church planting, labels are fuzzy. A full-time member of a church planting team must wear numerous hats. You may be expected to teach in different settings, speak on behalf of Quest, develop and lead small groups, and meet and recruit volunteers for your specific areas of ministry. Obviously, if you prefer part-time, there will be fewer expectations. Church planting is exciting and awesome and demonstrably the best way to reach outsiders, but it is also risky and is not for the faint of heart. Also, like anyone on staff in a church plant, you will need to do some personal fundraising (no worries – we will train you for this). So, if you are an energetic people-person who is not afraid of a challenge, give Ed a call or drop him an email (prefer degree and experience, but would consider student who is gifted and passionate).

Underlying this understanding is the belief that worship is primarily our ministry to God and not performance for the congregation's enjoyment. Members of the team will be helped to develop their abilities and gifts for His use as well as spiritually shepherded. Recruiting of new people for the ministry will be on-going, always being open to the people God is bringing for His use in worship. Create special services / events. The worship minister will create special services either for the enrichment of the congregation or as tools to reach out to the unchurched. These events will be coordinated with the other ministries of ACC, often in partnership with some of these other teams. This will include the scheduling of special outside musical groups in our services. (MN Teen Challenge, college choirs, etc.) Share in ministry with other church staff As a part of the ministry staff, the worship minister will be expected to help with informal counseling, discipling, and encouragement of those attending ACC.
